

Aotearoa New Zealand is in a State of Emergency

That means the government has changed the normal rules to make sure that all our people are safe.

There are new rules to get COVID-19 under control and keep everyone safe.

Lots of things in NZ are different right now.

The Police's job is to help everyone stick to the new rules.

It is important that you understand what to do and you stick to the rules.

If you are not sure about anything ask your Social Worker.

What do Police do when NZ is at Alert Level 4?

The Police are helping everyone in Aotearoa NZ stick to the new rules

The main rule is Stay at home Save lives

Everyone needs to stay at home. Everyone needs to stick to the new rules for NZ.

The Police's job is to make sure that:

- Everyone knows what to do
- Everyone follows the rules

You will see more Police than normal.

The Police will remind people about what to do.

They will tell people if they are breaking the rules.
